Answers To Your Questions About Typology

FAQs

What is typology?

In our case, typology is a large area of knowledge that collects, counts and classify repetitive facts. More about it here.

What is Worldtypology.com?

It is the first typology website and encyclopedia with free information that will help you to detect your complex innate qualities, stable relationships and more.

Do you divide people into groups and split the society?

We show what kind of people exist in nature. We don't want to split the society, but on the contrary we want to make it peaceful and understandable for everyone. Everything that was done before never let to peace and sooner or later destroyed countries, people and power. Attempts to fight with a chaos have never ended in success without victims. Now the time has come to show everyone how to avoid casualties while maintaining stability in popular and even in political society. After all, only facts and good will save the world.

Is the innate type of thinking, category or innate group related to “proper” upbringing, race, nation or other obvious superficial things?

No. All people regardless of their upbringing, nationality, race, etc. may have similar natural qualities in thinking, category and innate groups with its stable preferences and needs. There is no better nations or better skin color. Therefore all people in the world are typologically and naturally equal. We hope this will help those people, who believe in race differences, to get new answers about the differences in other people and their characters.

How can you convince me, that “your” typology and results are correct?

The answer is quite simple. The facts and logic are the basis of our typology. We have a definition of what is logic here. Only logic and facts will help all people to get the new answers to different important questions. What is fact? Read here.

What does your broken arrow website logo mean?

The arrow is usually used as a symbol of war. The broken arrow is a symbol of the end of all wars. Eight colors on a broken arrow indicate eight inborn groups of different people that exist in nature and who can finally coexist peacefully and rationally, without mutual criticism, hostility and misunderstanding.

Do you really think that personality type is innate and related to genes?

Theoretical patterns and our logical scheme show that human qualities are innate. In our opinion, innate qualities are genes and this will help geneticists to find new answers in their work.

Is your test free?

We are temporarily not accepting testing fees and we don't do it now. But we are considering this possibility in the nearest future. It takes a lot of time reading and analyzing your test answers, so our typology test (test of innate qualities) and creative typology test will not be for free. Sometimes, we also may use free gifts or discounts. But we will have a free typological analysis for people who suffer from middle or severe stage of Alzheimer's disease, dementia or Parkinson's disease. We have also published all possible typology test results in the public domain for others to study. Your voluntary payments and donation will help us to support this website and develop our statistics, methods, free public information, etc. You will be able to start the testing here later. We try our best for you in order to get new answers on worldwide questions that arise everyday.

What is the ITT? How the ITT analysis looks like?

ITT is your innate type of thinking. ITT analysis works using our test. It is the analysis of your stable way of thinking, personality qualities and the things you like. The example of the test result you may see here.

Why should I know my ITT? What should I do next with my test results?

Your ITT is your innate unchangeable during your life type of thinking. It is your key that unlocks your personality for your own research. You can use it also as a key to a bunch of new answers to the questions that may arise about your personality. You can use it as a proof of your innate demands and life values. Your accurate ITT also unlocks more accurately your access to our information on a main page of our website. Read more about here.

What should I do in order to increase the accuracy of the test result?

In order to increase the accuracy of your testing, you need to stick to our recommendations and do all the tasks during the test. You need to do all tasks, even if they are mentioned as “optional”. All these recommendations will give you a better result.

I received “No result” in my test report. Why? What should I do with it?

There can be some cases, when some people will get “No result” in their test report. It probably says, that such person didn’t understand our tasks and questions of the test correctly. Or, sometimes, it probably says that such person answered chaotically to the proposed questions and tasks in order to play with the test or give misleading information. Please, be attentive and honest during the testing.

Worldtypology.com task is to give only accurate results to all people. If our customers want to play with a test or don’t understand the test at all, they should be ready to receive a report with “No result”. Anyway, we will give a report to each customer who paid for test and was honest. The report is based on the answers, but we will not give a misleading result. Therefore, we ask people not to send completed test to us and pay for it, if they are unsure about their test answers.

Where can I read something about your theory?

All the necessary basic information is available on the website Worldtypology.com for free. For example, if you want to interpret all the information in the result of our test, learn this page. In case if you want to learn our theory in details, you are welcome to order our books here. Some books may be found in the library.

Does your typology have a connection with psychology or socionics? What’s the difference between typology and psychology?

Our typology is not a psychology. This is because psychology has its own goals and tasks. The main difference between typology and psychology is that typology accepts primary facts and regularities as inborn and interconnected phenomena. In simple words, typology works with the things that you cannot change. As for the materials published on this website they have connection only with “Compact socionics” theory (“Практичная соционика”, 2013).

How do you use my personal information I provided to you?

Some of your personal information will be used for creation of our public statistics. But your confident information will not be publicly displayed. Read more about it in our Privacy Policy.

How true are your test results? Do these tests really show my innate personality type in reality?

Yes, the results are logically true and really show your innate personality, if you were honest during the testing. Here we are talking about a test conducted under our supervision later. If you are self-analyzing yourself, we will not guarantee you any accuracy. But our theory is based on facts, well structured and has no logical contradictions.

Where can I order your test?

You will be able to order our test only at https://worldtypology.com website or in our social network pages mentioned on this website. If these methods do not work, you can write to us using this alternative email: typologybooks@gmail.com. Avoid other places and websites that may offer you the same testing, because such people may illegally copy our questions and our name without giving you any true result.

My typology test result has an expiry date?

No, your test result has no expiry date. This is due to fact that your ITT cannot change, if you were honest during testing and provided accurate information.

What is Innate Color Group?

That is a group of people that have the same favorite color objectively and we consider this color as innate for such people. More about it here.
